€500 Bursaries for travel and subsistence available to attend EUSPR’s 2015 Conference !!!

“Is an ounce of prevention still worth a pound of cure? The economics and value of prevention”

The Science for Prevention Academic Network (SPAN) will be collaborating with the European Society for Prevention Research (EUSPR) to present two pre-conference workshops (15th October) at the EUSPR conference in Palma de Mallorca, October 16-18 2014:

1. Prevention economics – cost effectiveness, using economic data in decision making, methodologies;
2. Optimising behavioural interventions, the MOST model

As part of SPAN’s aim to establish stronger links to professional networks, they will be offering between 10-15 bursaries of up to €500 to young prevention scientists (PhD Students, Post docs) to assist in travel and accommodation costs associated with EUSPR/SPAN workshop attendance.

To apply for a SPAN bursary please download the application form from our website (under ‘Quicklinks’ right hand side: http://www.span-europe.eu/

Alternatively you can contact the SPAN Project Manager Kobie Mulligan: k.mulligan@brookes.ac.uk

Or, find the application form on the EUSPR web page: http://euspr.org/fifth-euspr-conference-span-workshop-bursaries/